Mount Rushmore Bookstores

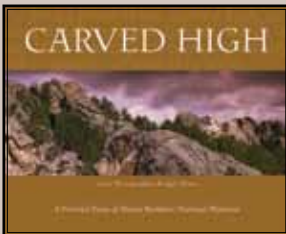

As a committee of the Mount Rushmore Society, the mission of the Mount Rushmore Bookstores is to support and assist the National Park Service with educational, historical and interpretive activities at Mount Rushmore National Memorial. Funds for these activities are raised through a membership program and sales from three Mount Rushmore bookstores, an audio tour outlet and a website. Since 1993, more than $1.9 million has been given back to the park service for educational programs.

By purchasing items listed in this catalog, on the website or at the bookstores, you are helping to support Mount Rushmore National Memorial. Listed below are just some of the ways the Mount Rushmore Bookstores have supported the park.

- Mount Rushmore Audio Tour
- Funding for intern and volunteer staffing
- Free publications for visitors
- Flags for the Avenue of Flags
- Special events throughout the year
- Educational programs
- Interpretive exhibits
- Funding for the Lakota, Nakota and Dakota Heritage Village
- Junior Ranger badges and booklets for over 20,000 children per year
- Scholarships for school bus parking
- Sculptor-in-Residence program which provides an artist throughout the summer to demonstrate sculpting techniques.
- Care and protection of the Lincoln Borglum Museum Collection
- Publishing of promotional material for the park
- Publishing educational books, pamphlets and products with direct input from the National Park Service to increase public awareness of park significance
- Musical/cultural demonstrations AND MORE!

Featured Publication!

Carved High photographer Rodger Slott

South Dakota native and photographer Rodger Slott captures the different angles and moods of Mount Rushmore's architecture and landscape. Incorporating his photos, historic photos and historic quotes by Gutzon Borglum and others who worked on the mountain, this book is a keepsake of the spirit and vision that have made Mount Rushmore an American icon.
